

Presentation to IUFOR by Edgar Rothschild Fouche
Copyright Aug. 1998
Fouche Media Associates

SLIDES: {1/Alien Head until presentation starts then> {2/Presented by slide

GOOD AFTERNOON: My mother once told me that I was going to Hell if I didn't change my ways. Judging from the heat outside, I'd say I'm not too far from there.

SLIDES: {3/AF Thunderbird Aircraft, {4/Flags at Randolph AFB

My name is Edgar Rothschild Fouche.

SLIDE 5: MJ-12 Cover

I'm here to speak about Secret Government Technology, reverse engineering of Alien Artifacts, and the Top Secret MJ-12 committee, which I write about in my new book, Alien Rapture - The Chosen, with my co-author Brad Steiger. Brad is the author of 143 published works including the Best Seller Project Bluebook.

MJ-12 Documents from Ed Fouche's Book Alien Rapture: 001 | 002 | 003 | 004 | 005 | 006 |

Operation Majestic 12 Preliminary Analytical Report (Attachment D. | Part B. | Section 3.) Page 01 of 04 | Page 02 of 04 | Page 03 of 04 | Page 04 of 04 |

PRESIDENTIAL ORDER (Unnumbered Order) President Ronald Wilson Reagan (Authorized By Proxy) REVISED CHARTER MARS JUPITER - TWELVE COMMITTEE Page 01 of 03 | Page 02 of 03 | Page 03 of 03 |

Slide 6: TR-3B

Before I'm through, you will know exactly what the Flying Triangle is. The one that has been sighted around the world. It is the world's most exotic and classified aerospace vehicle. It could be stealthily hovering somewhere over Phoenix - Arizona, Gulf Breeze - Florida, the country of Belgium, or your city. I'll show you pictures of Air Force aircraft I've worked, declassified aircraft, and pictures of classified aircraft never before seen in public. I'll also explain how we came upon this technology.

First I'll Share Some Of My Family Background:

I was born to fifth generation French-Americans, and many of my relatives, for generations, have historically been involved with the government, in fields of intelligence, black programs, crypto, and classified development projects.

SLIDE 7: Joseph Fouche -Duke

This is true as far back as the French revolution where Joseph Fouch, was the Prime Minister under Napoleon. He was the head of the French secret National Police Force and a direct ancestor of mine. Joseph Fouch, started and controlled the world's first professionally organized intelligence agency with agents throughout Europe.

CIA Badge

Copyright 1998 Fouche Media Associates

Copyright 1998 Fouche Media Associates

KGB Patch

KGB Shield

KGB Passport

KGB - Russian Intelligence Organization

SLIDES: {8/CIA Badge, {9/KGB mix, {10/Various Spy Logos

The CIA, the Russian KGB, the English MI-5, the Israeli Mossad, and many other Intelligence Agencies, have used and expanded on his methods of intelligence gathering, networking information, and political survival.

Some French historians consider him a scoundrel because he survived many of his leaders, including Napoleon.

Slide 11: Master Sergeant Fouche photo

My Career Background Spans 30 Years, and Since the government isn't about to support my claims, you will see from the positions I've held, and the Programs I worked, that I was in a position to gather the information, I am presenting.:

My first job was as a machinist, making bombs for the USAF at R. G. Le Tourneau Industries in Longview Texas. For the next 25 years, I would be involved with the Department of Defense in one way or another.

After being drafted into the Vietnam conflict, I initially went through a year of electronics, communications, intelligence, and crypto-logical schools.

During the years 1967-1974, I was stationed or worked at many Tactical Air Command, Air Training Command, and Pacific Air Command Air Forces bases. During the Vietnam conflict, I assigned to special projects at Kadena AFB Okinawa; Udorn AFB Thailand; Ben Hoi AFB Vietnam, and spent anywhere from a day to a month at many other South East Asian military bases.

With my training and experiences with intelligence equipment, special electronics, black programs, and crypto-logical areas, I received other government opportunities. I filled positions as Major Command Liaison, Headquarters manager, and DoD factory representative for TAC, SAC, ATC, and PACAF following the Vietnam war. Later in my career, as a manager of defense contractors, I dealt with classified "black" programs developing state-of-the-art Electronics, Avionics, and Automatic Test Equipment.

SLIDES: { 12/Shop F-16 Radar, { 13/Test Equipment shop, { 14/repair of LANTIRN unit

I was considered an Air Force expert with classified electronics counter-measures test equipment, cryptological equipment owned by the National Security Agency, and Automatic Test Equipment. I worked with many of the leading military aircraft and electronics manufacturers in the US.

I participated as a key member in design, development, production, and Flight-Operational-Test and Evaluation in classified Aircraft development programs, state-of-the-art avionics, including electronic countermeasures, satellite communications, crypto-logical and support equipment.

During my military career, I was "hand picked" (Development Cadre) for many of the Air Force's newest fighter and bomber development programs. I was cadre for:

SLIDES: {15/F111, {16/F-15 going up, {17/A-10 bottom, {18/4 F-16s, {19/B-1, show when named the F-111 swing-wing fighter-bomber
the F-15 Eagle air superiority fighter the A-10 Wart-hog close air support fighter and tank killer
the F-16 Falcon fighter and the B-1 Lancer Bomber.

Other research and development programs I worked as far back as the 70s are still classified Top Secret. I received over 4,000 hours of technical training from the military and government, of which about half was classified training.

SLIDE 20: F-22 Raptor

This is a picture of the new Boeing-Lockheed F-22 Raptor, ATF or Air Dominance Fighter. My involvement with black programs developing stealth aircraft is classified. I am perhaps the only person who has actually worked at the Top Secret Groom Lake Air Base, within Area-51 of the Nellis Range, and written about it.

SLIDE 21: F-117 Stealth Fighter tested at Groom at night with fog engines in work for cover.

I spent twenty years working directly for the US Air Force and DoD Agencies followed by another eight years as a Defense Contractor Manager. My last position for the Air Force was as a Strategic Air Command Liaison

SLIDE 22: SR-71 3D Wire Frame

As a Defense Contractor-Manager; I performed as an Engineering Program Manager and Site Manager for DOD contractors involved in classified development, logistics support, electronic engineering, and technical data development from 1987-95. I am now CEO of Fouche Media Associates, which I run with my beautiful wife, Rebecca. I am also the inventor of Neurosync MIME, a behavior modification software using hypnotic Entrainment and Subliminal Messages.

SLIDE 23: AR Book Cover

I wrote Alien Rapture - The Chosen in 1994 and 95, after my last trip to California, New Mexico, and Nevada.

I undertook this trip to do research for the Alien Rapture, which included a meeting with five close friends who had agreed to release confidential information to me, and discuss their closely guarded personal experiences. I also interviewed other contacts who had worked classified programs or flown classified military aircraft to gather information about UFO sightings and contact.

At this point I was blessed with teaming up with a great man and a great writer, Brad Steiger. I had decided to get out of the Defense Industry, as I felt that fraud, waste, and abuse was rampant, both on the government and contractor sides.

I wanted to work for myself as a writer and develop some product ideas that I had. So far I've been a terrible boss, I've worked myself long hours, without many benefits, and the salary is meager, compared to what I made as an Engineering Program Manager.

WHO WERE THE FIVE FRIENDS AND CO- CONSPIRATORS and a host of other insiders, You may ask?

It started when some old friends of mine, met in the spring of 1990 in Las Vegas. There were five of us then, all who had remained close following the Vietnam War. I've always been the networker for my DoD, Military, and Contractor friends, so I'm the one who set up the meeting.

I. The First friend, Jerald, was a former NSA or National Security Agency TREAT Team member. TREAT stands for Tactical Reconnaissance Engineering Assessment Team.

He worked for the DOE or Department of Energy as a National Security Investigator. That was his cover, but he really worked for the NSA. His job required him to 'watch employees' with Top Secret and "Q" clearances at the Nevada Test Site and the Nellis Range which includes Area 51. Area 51 is where the most classified aerospace testing in the world takes place. You may know the base as Groom Lake Air Base, Watertown, the Ranch, or Dream-Land. He was found dead of a heart attack a year after our last meeting.

II. The Second friend, Sal, was a person who had worked directly for the NSA with Electronic Intelligence (E lent) and became a Defense Contractor after his retirement.

SLIDE 24: SR-71 Spy Plane - black with red stripes.

III. The Third friend, Doc, was a former SR-71 spy plane pilot and a USAF test pilot at Edwards Air Force Base.

IV. The Fourth friend, Dale, and I were in the service together during the Vietnam conflict, and I've known him since the early 70s. His father worked for over 20 years for the NSA and he is the one who sent me the MJ-12 documents his father had obtained. I'll discuss the MJ12 documents last.

V. The Fifth friend, Bud, was a DoD Contractor and Electronics Engineer. He had worked on Top Secret development programs dealing with Electronic Counter Measures, Radar Homing and Warning, ECM Jammers, and Infrared Receivers. He retired as a Program Manager and later died of a brain tumor within 30 days after his symptoms appeared.

SLIDE 25: TR-1 black glider - over clouds

I also received input from four other SR-71 pilots, two U-2 pilots, a TR-1 pilot, and about two dozen bomber and fighter jocks. I got the picture of the TR-3B from a person in this latter group.

SLIDE 26: TR-3 flying triangle - side view

At the time, I had no intention of writing about programs I was involved with due to the Secrecy Act and classification documents I had signed. I'd had my fill of working with the government, military, and defense contractors.

However, it bothered each of us that we'd had experiences with unusual phenomena, extremely advanced technology, and witnessed Unidentified Aerial Contact, that had not been previously reported.

As we sat at a table in a dark corner, of the Silver Dollar Saloon and Casino in Las Vegas, discussing our experiences and swapping knowledge. Each of the group of five assured me that, they had enough confidence in me, to believe that I could write the story about their guarded experiences.

We agreed to get together again the next year with the understanding that I would contact each of them to set up the meeting. In the meantime, each member of the group, including myself, was to write down as much information as he could remember about unusual phenomena and personal sightings.

Many of the things the group revealed to me were startling: I used this information to piece together the story now titled, Alien Rapture- The Chosen.

I'll Share some of these Secrets and Unusual Phenomena with you:

SLIDE 27: SR-71 with gold plasma ball on wingtip

The SR-71 was designed as a spy plane for the CIA in the 60s and designated the A-12. The Mach 3 plus aircraft first flew in 1962, taking off from Groom AFB in Area 51. Later, once the Air Force operated it as a reconnaissance plane, it was designated the SR-71 black-bird.

My friend, Chuck, a SR-71 pilot, related to me an in-flight incident he had in the 1970s. He was returning from a reconnaissance flight, and, while at an altitude of 74,000 feet and at the speed of almost Mach 3, (3 times the speed of sound) he noticed something flickering in his peripheral vision. Hovering over his left wing tip was a ball of dense plasma-like light. It was so bright, that when he stared at it for more than a few seconds, his eyes hurt

SLIDE 28: SR-71 red arrow pointed to air inlet spike.

Chuck tried to use his UHF-HF and VHF communications sets to no avail. There was nothing but static. Repeatedly glancing briefly at the ball of light, he watched in amazement as it moved effort-less-ly about his aircraft

At one point the light positioned itself a few feet in front of the large spiked cone at the air Intake Inlet. The enormous amount of air rushing into the engines should have sucked in, and shredded almost anything in its path, but the light orb was mysteriously unaffected.

SLIDE 29: SR-71 with gold plasma ball on wingtip again

The light, he noted, acted in a curious manner, if something inanimate could act at all. It moved from time to time to other parts of the vehicle, staying with him until his approach to Beale AFB in California. He was in sight of the Air Base when the light swung away from his aircraft in a wide arch with ever increasing speed.

Of course, after reading his incident report, his Operations Commander told him not to ever speak about his experience. When Chuck related the story to me, he told me he was absolutely convinced, that the ball of light was controlled by some form of intelligence. I have about two dozen stories from pilots of similar in flight incidents with UFOs and plasma balls.

SLIDE 30: TR-3B triangle schematic diagram with Top-Bottom-Side views

Have You Ever Heard Stories about Missing Memory?

Sal worked a program, for almost two years, in a Top Secret Research Facility in California. At the end of the program he started having flu-like symptoms, and after several days of worsening symptoms, he went to the doctor. His company doctor prescribed some medication and sent him home for two days of rest. When Sal got up on the third morning to go to work, he couldn't remember where he worked, or who he worked for. His brother called his company, and asked what he should do.

The person at the company related, that my friend had been terminated because his contract had run out. To this day, the only thing Sal knows about that project, is from his notes, pay records, and letter of offer when he was hired. The company in question was involved with developing the TR-3B gravity disruption device called the MFD. His paranoia now exceeds my ability to describe it.

Has Anyone Ever Heard of the super strong foil like Material recovered after the Roswell Crash?

Another friend who worked for General Dynamics in Fort Worth, TX, described a program in which he worked with a plasma accelerator in the mid-60s researching gravity warping techniques. He is a physicist by education and work experience. This was his first Top Secret Program. He described a foil-like material, much like the material that was reported discovered after the Roswell Crash. He described the foil as 12 layers of material, less than ten thousandths of an inch thick. It was as flexible as a plastic trash bag, but virtually indestructible to piercing, burning or cutting.

In order to cut the material used for the project, the material was super cooled, a large electrical charge was applied to polarize the molecular structure, and then a laser cutter was applied. Large ribbons of this material were used to reinforce the accelerator, which contained the mercury based plasma.

The plasma was cooled to super-conductive temperatures, rotated at 45 thousand revolutions per minute, and pressurized at 150 thousand atmospheres. This would be considered state-of-the-art technology even by today's standards, some 30 years after he worked this project. He related that the project achieved its objective. Instruments and test objects within the center of the accelerator showed a 50 percent loss of weight, attributed to a reduction in the gravitational field.

You'll hear more about this technology when I address the Top Secret USAF Tactical Reconnaissance, flying triangle, or TR-3B and it's Magnetic Field Disrupter.

SLIDE 31: YB-49 Flying Wing 1948

From 1973 through 1976 I was home-based out of Edwards AFB.

It is near Lancaster California and even nearer to the San Andrus Fault.

SLIDE 32: B-2 stealth bomber

Edwards has a long history with secret technology and experimental aircraft. The YB-49 was flown in 1948 at Edwards AFB which looks a lot like the B-2 Stealth Bomber.

SLIDE 33 : XB-70 Valkyrie 1964

The XB-70 flown in 1964 looks a lot like the still Top Secret SR-75 that the Air Force says doesn't exist.

ABOVE
TOP
SECRET

USAF SR-75 Penetrator
Hypersonic Strategic Reconnaissance Aircraft

|                      |                               |
|----------------------|-------------------------------|
| Width: 98 Feet       | Length: 162 Feet              |
| Speed: Mach 5        | Altitude: 120 Thousand Feet   |
| 1st Test Flight 1987 | 1st. Operational Flight: 1989 |

Crew of Three: Pilot, EW- Launch
Control Officer & Reconnaissance Officer

SLIDE 34: SR-75 with specification data at bottom

Edwards is the home of the US Air Force Test Pilot School and is Responsible for Flight Operational Test and Evaluation of the Air Force's newest aircraft. It hosts a number of Tenant Organizations from NASA to a Jet Propulsion Laboratory facility.

SLIDES: {35/black F-111, {36/F-15, {37/F-16, {38/A-10, {39/B-1 (Shown quickly as named) the F-15 air superiority fighter, the F-16 fighter, the A-10 close air support attack aircraft, and the B-1 stealth bomber. I was involved with these and other classified development programs, when they were just a gleam in some pilot trainee's eyes.

I worked with the F-111 swing wing bomber.

SLIDE 40: A-10 aircraft with external engine pods. and snarling teeth on aircraft nose.

One night a long time friend of mine and I were standing on top of the Fairchild A-10 hanger. It was about 2 AM, and was a clear night with millions of stars visible to the naked eye. This was a common clear, cool night. I noticed a group of stars that seemed to be shifting in color. At the time I could name most of the visible planets and constellations. I pointed out to my friend that the three bright stars in triangular formation, were not part of the big dipper.

We watched as the strobing stars shifted from bright blue to a reddish -yellow in color. After a period of about 20 minutes we could tell that the objects probably weren't stars, because they were getting larger. This was somewhat unnerving. It was further unnerving, when the space in-between the enlarging lights, began blocking out the stars in the background.

We decided it probably was a Top Secret Air Force vehicle of some type. Still, we weren't sure. The vehicle had gone from half the size of the big dipper to twice it's size in under a half hour and had moved from the west to the east towards the base. About the time we could make out a silhouette or outline, of the triangular vehicle, the lights, or possibly exhausts, flared brighter and vanished from the sky in an instant. This experience wasn't my first sighting, but it was one of the few where I had a witness.

SLIDE 41: Nevada

In the summer of 1976 I relocated to Nellis Air Force Base north of Las Vegas. I spent the next 3 and a half years there. I worked primarily with the F-15, Electronics Countermeasures, and Automatic Test Equipment. I had heard rumors of airbases located in the desert, at places called Mercury, Indian Springs, and others that didn't even have names. Before the fall of the Berlin wall, and the collapse of the USSR, no one talked about their classified work experience, nor did we repeat rumors of Top Secret technology and aircraft. Most of us who had Top Secret clearances, never even told our wives what we were doing, and where we were going, when on these type projects. I once spent six months in Vietnam, while my ex-wife thought I was attending a classified technical school in Colorado.

Slide 42: Groom Lake:

The Military, in a court of law, actually denied the existence of a classified Air Force Base, Inside The Nellis Range, out in the Nevada Desert. Don't you know, the plaintiffs, who had worked at Groom, and their lawyer were surprised to hear this. But, that's another story.

I was one of the few personnel at Nellis who had a Top Secret clearance with Crypto access. I was certified to work on Mode 4 IFF, (an aircraft system which responded to classified, encrypted codes.) I was also certified to work on other Crypto equipment which I cannot discuss.

It was due to a combination of coincidences and my technical experience that I was requested to be temporarily assigned to a place, which had no name. I was told by my commander that I was to report to an office on the base, and that he didn't have a clue where I was going or what I was going to be working on. And let me tell you, he wasn't too happy, to have been left in the dark.

I left one Monday morning long before sunrise. It was 4:30 AM when I boarded a dark blue Air Force bus with all of the windows blacked out. There were 28 other people on the bus, not including the 2 security policemen, holding M-16 automatic weapons, and the bus driver. We were each told when boarding, "Do Not Speak on this bus, unless you are spoken too." Not one of us uttered a word, believe me. There is nothing which can inspire compliance like an M-16 sticking in your face, I assure you.

The bus drove through the desert, this much I know from the poor air- conditioning on the bus and the amount of fine dust that came through every crack in the old vehicle for several hours and it was soon obvious where I was

SLIDES: {43/SR-71, {44/TR-1, {45/F-117, (Shown quickly as named) (Several pictures of F-117 added by AlienScientist)

In the 1950s the government started building the super secret Groom Lake facilities for the CIA's U-2 spy plane. It's located in the north central part of the Nellis Range and is designated as Area 51. Construction of facilities within the Nellis range continues, even to today. The SR-71, TR-1, F-117, and B-2 were tested at Groom.

AURORA
USAF SR-75

SLIDES: {46/SR-75, {47/TR-3B

Now the Top Secret SR-75, SR-74, and TR-3B are operated there. Many of these aircraft have been mis-identified as UFOs.

SLIDE 48: Nevada Topographical Map / or satellite

When we reached Groom, the bus pulled into a hanger and they shut the doors. The security personnel checked me in, while other security personnel dispatched the others to their places of work. I was given a pair of heavy glasses to wear, which can only be described as looking like welder's goggles. The lenses were thick, and the sides of the goggles were covered to obliterate my peripheral vision. Once I had these goggles on, I could only see about 30 feet in front of me. Anything beyond that distance became increasingly blurred. If an M1 Abrams Tank barrel, had been pointed at me from about 50 feet away, I would not have seen it. It was very disconcerting to have to wear those glasses. The whole time I was there, some 10 consecutive days, followed by several follow-up visits, the routine was the same. Leave Nellis before sunrise and return home to Nellis after dark every day. Only once did I get a chance to see the whole base, and that was when I was flown up from Nellis, in a helicopter to Groom, for emergency repairs of their crypto test equipment.

For those stationed at Groom, or commuting there daily, the flight schedules are posted for classified flights. Everyone not cleared for that particular program and flight, must be off the ramp and inside 30 minutes prior to the scheduled operation. A couple of thousand personnel are flown into Area 51 daily, from McCarrin Air Port in Las Vegas and from Edwards AFB in California, on contractor aircraft. Several hundred commute from Tonapah and Central Nevada via the North entrance near Rachel Nevada. Other commuters use the South entrance via Mercury or Indian Springs, which is West of LV. While at Groom I made contacts and met people from other programs. Over time, a few became friends and we exchanged stories. On my 3rd day on the job at Groom, I had to remove a module from a multi-bay piece of satellite communications equipment, used to support certain special mission aircraft. I noticed while inside the bay checking out the wiring, that it contained a sealed unit about the size of a large brief-case. It had a National Security Agency ID Plate on it. The nomenclature on the name plate was; Direct Orbital Code Link. I thought this was strange, as the unit was part of a digital communications link, used solely to communicate with classified Air Force vehicles. I was unaware at the time of any military orbital missions not related to NASA. Remember, this was in the late 70s. The shuttle didn't fly until 1981. I disconnected the unit and, out of curiosity, I removed the rear access cover. To my amazement, there were some half-dozen large hybrid integrated circuit chips inside. The largest chip had over 500 hair-thin leads attached and was approximately the size of a Zippo lighter. The paper inspection stamp on the chip was dated 1975.

In 1975 the most advanced processor speeds, on the most classified projects were equivalent to a IBM 8088 which ran at 4 million cycles per seconds. This unit had a processor speed of 1 billion cycles per second. It wasn't until more than a dozen years had passed before I saw comparable technology with integrated circuit chips. Then it was at a Top Secret avionics development project at ITT. In the mess hall at Groom, I heard words like Lorents Forces, pulse detonation, cyclotron radiation, quantum flux transduction field generators, quasi crystal energy lens, and EPR quantum receivers.

I wrote down everything I saw, heard, and touched in my log every night before going to bed. By the way, the food at the Groom Mess hall was excellent. But what would you expect. There was no cable, no alcohol, and no women. I guess they figured they'd better do something right. Later, while back at the base, my routine went on as normal, as did my part time job that summer at the Silver Dollar Salon. My NSA friend, Jerald, who investigated and "watched" those with highly classified jobs at the Nevada Test Site and the Nellis Range, happened to show up. He was checking up on a guy who had a drinking problem, who worked at the Nevada Test Site, where they set off underground atomic explosions.

SLIDE 49: B-52 bomber landing

He happened to mention a vehicle that could be boosted into orbit, and return and land in the Nevada desert. It was an unmanned reconnaissance vehicle which took off from a B-52 bomber and used booster rockets to place it in temporary low earth orbit for the purpose of taking reconnaissance pictures. I thought he was feeding me a line of bull. Then he said,

SLIDES: 50/51/52: Virtual Reality Lab pictures. "This vehicle is remotely piloted and communications are made via the DOCILE system at Groom." I'm not usually too slow, but it didn't hit me until he repeated, "you know, the Direct Orbital Communications Link -- D. O. C. L." Bingo, the light-bulb went on. I had seen a piece of the DOCILE equipment at Groom. The NSA unit with the large chips. These are old pictures of the Virtual Reality Lab at Brooks Air Force Base where the software to remotely fly exotic aircraft was developed.

Let Me Get Back To The Development of Alien Rapture - The Chosen.

After I agreed to write my co-conspirator's story, I talked to several military Judge Advocate General (JAG) Lawyers. I told the lawyers that I wanted to write about some of my experiences in the military and had been on many classified projects. I was told that I had to write my-story as fiction, which I have. I was told that I couldn't name any real individuals with clearances or covers, or use their working names. Which I haven't. I was also told that I couldn't discuss any secrets of programs that I had been personally assigned to. Which I have not done. Then, I was told as long as I did that, I could damn well write anything I wanted to. Of course, I didn't tell them I was going to write about the government conspiracy to cover-up UFO contact and the reverse engineering of alien technology. Or, that I was interviewing pilots who had flown classified air craft. In the summer of 1992 we met again in Las Vegas. I had compiled my notes from our first meeting, my interviews, and the input the five friends had passed on to me. Each had reached out to their friends and contacts, which uncovered even more information. We agreed I was the only one who could get away with writing about our experiences since I no longer worked for the DoD as military or government employee or as a defense contractor. My friends were still connected. I took one last trip to Nevada in December 1994, without benefit of my friends. I wanted to see a few of my retired military friends to cross check some of my facts. Bud, one of my conspirators, had informed me that he had a cancerous tumor and was going through some severe depression. He was dead thirty days later. It was a real blow to us. We had lost Jerrold a year before of a heart attack. Of the remaining three friends, Sal has dropped of the face of the earth and none of his or my contacts have been able to locate him for two years now. He was extremely paranoid about the two deaths, and had second thoughts about the book. He said he was going to move and didn't know when or if he would contact me next.

SLIDE 53: black SR-71 with red stripes

Let me talk about my friend Doc. He has a theory that UFOs Seem To Like Fast Aircraft. The SR-71 pilot whom I knew well, Doc, was stationed at Kadena AFB, where they were located on the SAC side of the base in 1973.

While flying back across the South China Sea from a reconnaissance mission, the SR-71 pilot encountered a shadow over his cockpit. Doc said his avionics systems went totally hay-wire, and he felt the aircraft nose down slightly, which can be dangerous at two thousand miles per hour, or 35 miles per minute. When he looked up, he was so startled, that he almost panicked and immediately made an evasive maneuver to the right and down, which is one of the many maneuvers that they make if a missile is detected approaching. Doc said the object was so big that it totally blocked out the sun. His estimate was that it was 250 to 300 feet across. It was oval in shape, and appeared to be a bright blue-grey in color, but he wasn't sure, as a shimmering halo of energy surrounded the vehicle. About three minutes later, and some thousands of feet lower, the vehicle reappeared on his left wing tip. He tried his UHF radio and all he could pick up was a deep electrical hum. He abandoned his attempts to use his radio, as his immediate survival was more important for the moment. For the next ten minutes, the large oval vehicle moved from his left wing tip, to the rear of the aircraft, and then to his right wing tip. Doc said he got this sound in his head, 'like a swarm of bees in my brain' as he described it. The movement from the left, to the rear, to the right wing tip took about two minutes, and then it reversed the movement. On the UFO's last swing to the rear of his SR-71, his aircraft started buffeting wildly, which is terrifying at Mach 3, then it stopped after about fifteen seconds and he never saw it again. When Doc returned from the mission he immediately went to his debriefing. The minute he mentioned the incident, with the unidentified aerospace vehicle to his commander, he was pulled away from the debriefing and taken to his commander's office. His commander, a colonel, filled out an incident report, in detail, and then told my friend not to mention the incident to anyone or he would be subject to severe and speedy penalty under military regulations. Doc told me that he didn't know one SR-71 pilot or astronaut, who hadn't had a close encounter or a UFO sighting. He felt that not one of them would ever go on record with their experiences, because of fear of retaliation from the Department of Defense, and loss of their retirement pay and benefits for breaking the secret's acts. During the nine years after this in-flight incident, Doc related that, a few of his trusted friends related similar incidents with the same type vehicles, or glowing orbs of dense light dancing around their aircraft. Then Doc told me another story... His friend Dave, another SR-71 black-bird pilot, while drunk on Sake' in Japan, told him in whispers that he didn't use to drink until, he made a reconnaissance flight over the Eastern border of Russia six months before. When Dave returned, he was delirious, and semi-conscious. His crew had to pull him out of the cockpit. The Flight Surgeon attributed his symptoms to loss of oxygen. He didn't share his night-mares with the Air Force doctors, for fear that the Flight Surgeon would ground him, and he would lose his flying status. But, under the influence of alcohol, in a quiet bar, with a trusted fellow SR-71 blackbird pilot and friend, Dave opened up.

He tearfully related in an emotional story, that he had nightmares every night, that something had gotten to him during his flight over Russia. What made matters worse for him was that he had absolutely no memory of the flight, from the time he lifted off from the Air Base until the day after he returned, and found himself in the Naval Regional Hospital in Okinawa. I managed to track down Dave, who lives in Southern California, and he confirmed, off-the- record, that the incident as related to me was true. Dave said that he was actually happy someone was writing about stories of contact and sightings by military pilots. He also said he was sure he had had some type contact with the UFO.

SLIDE 54: F-15 over Arizona

One day, while still at Nellis, We were informed that there was an F-15 that had crashed on the Nellis Range, which is where Area 51 is located. The F-15 crash happened in 1977. A Lieutenant Colonel, and Doc Walters, the Hospital Commander actually flew into the side of a mountain while doing a routine, Functional Check Flight. I've written about this incident in Alien Rapture - The Chosen. A sergeant who worked for me recovered the F-15 Heads Up Display film cannister, while assigned to the Accident Investigation Team. He told me a guy in a dark jump suit, who was out of Washington DC, personally took it from him, which was unusual since everything else was picked up and logged, and taken back to the assigned hanger for analysis. A prototype video camera was also on the aircraft. It was recovered as was the flight data recorder, and also handed over to the guy from Washington. One night, a couple of weeks after the crash, my NSA friend, Jerald related to me at the Silver Dollar Saloon, that the Lieutenant Colonel had radioed the Nellis Tower that he had an extremely large 'thing' over his aircraft, right on top of him, and that he was experiencing loss of flight systems. His communications went dead, and a few seconds later the aircraft exploded into the side of a mountain top. Jerald who was the most 'connected' person I ever knew, told me that the viewing of the 'video,' showed, that some type of oval vehicle of tremendous size, was so close to the F-15 that the camera was out of focus. When Doc and the Lieutenant Colonel ejected, the UFO was still above them, and their bodies were torn to shreds. Officially, it was determined, as is always the case, that pilot error caused the perfectly functional aircraft, in clear airspace, with maximum visibility, to crash. These are some of the types of stories that we shared, and many of these stories and my experiences are detailed in Alien Rapture- The Chosen.

SLIDE 55: Area 51 Groom Lake Air Base

Nevada calls itself the silver state, the battle-born state, and the sagebrush state. A more appropriate motto, would be the conspiracy state.

Of the 111,000 square miles of land in Nevada, over 80 percent is controlled by the federal government-- the highest percentage of any state in the union. If it were not for the gaming industry, the federal government would be the largest employer in the state, with 18,000 federal and military personnel and another 20,000 government contractors and suppliers. The Nevada Test Site, Nellis Air Force Base and Range, Fallon Naval Air Station, the Tonapah Range, and the aerospace industry eat up a lot of U.S. tax dollars.

SLIDE 56: Satellite photo of Groom Air Base / Area 51

The Nevada Test Site, and the Nellis Range have lots of secrets, yet to be revealed. Including a super secret laboratory named DARC, the Defense Advanced Research Center. It is located inside the Nellis Range, some 10 stories built underground, and was built in the mid 80s with SDI money. It is next to a mountain near Papoose Lake south of Groom Lake. The TR-3Bs are stored in a hanger built into a side of a mountain near DARC. The Nellis Range covers more than 3.5 million acres.

EG&G provides classified research, development, and services for the military and government. EG&G company supplies technical and scientific support for nuclear testing, and energy research and development programs. In addition, EG&G provided large diameter drilling, mining, and excavation for underground, and mountainside facilities. EG&G built these hidden bunkers, mountain hangers, and vast underground facilities at Groom, Papoose, and Mercury for the government.

These facilities and observations posts are well camouflaged, inside the Nevada Test Site, and the Nellis Range.

Starting in 1971 and continuing through 1975, a massive amount of excavation took place at the Groom and Papoose facilities. Most of the subsequent construction has also taken place underground.

In 1972, EG&G was granted an indefinite contract, called "Project Redlight" to support the DOE and the military. This contract gave them responsibility to assist in the recovery of nuclear materials, in cases of mishaps and to provide aerial and ground security, for highly classified government and military sites. My sources say that the DOE and NSA are primarily responsible to the MJ-12 committee, for reacting to sightings of UFOs and recovering artifacts in case of a crash.

So What's Going On Today, You ASK. Let's talk about the newest secrets and rumors:

US Air Force & Canadian Saucer

Built by AVRO of Canada

YB-49 Edwards AFB

SLIDES: {57/Hiller Platform, {58/Avro Saucer, {{59/Northrop Wing. The Hillary platform and the Avro saucer and the Northrup wings were aerospace vehicles, where advance technology was developed and tested. Each emulated some characteristic of UFOs as described by the late Dr. Paul Hill. Hill was a NASA UFO investigator who talks about the UFO's technology in his book Unconventional Flying Objects.

Lockheed's Advanced Developmental Projects Division, known as the "Skunk Works," developed the A-12 for the CIA, and a later version called the SR-71 for the USAF in the early 60s. Thirty years later, the SR-71 was still breaking world speed records.

SLIDE 60: SR-71 spy plane.

The sleek, matte-black, stiletto shaped spy plane, the SR-71, broke the world air speed record from LA to Washington DC on it's retirement flight in 1990. 2,000 miles in 1 hour and 4 minutes.

SLIDE 61: Satellite of the Groom facility

Area 51 - the Groom Air Base facilities, has a 6 mile long runway, the longest in the US. The Department of Defense and CIA's most exotic aerospace vehicles are tested and modified at the Groom Lake facilities. Why a 6 mile long runway? You need a runway this long if the minimum, or stall speed of an aircraft, is a very high speed. Aircraft without wings, like wedge shaped lifting bodies, or those with 75 degree swept back wings, have a very high stall speed. So they take off very fast and land even faster. It's a place where curious outsiders circulate rumors, about aliens and extra-terrestrial technology, being utilized to accelerate the various programs at Area 51. My sources estimate that up to 35% of the SDI funding was siphoned off to provide primary expenditures for the Air Force's most secret 'Black Program', which started in 1982. It is called - The Aurora Program. Aurora is the code name of the ongoing project to build and test advanced aerospace vehicles. As early as 1992, the Air Force had already made contingency plans to move all of it's aircraft out of Groom Air Base. The public eye was on the base and they didn't like it one damn bit. Everything like the SR-75 were removed by early 1992 to other bases in Utah, Colorado, Alaska, Greenland, Diego Garcia, and another remote island in the Pacific. People like Art Bell, Jeff Rense and Glenn Campbell, more than anyone spooked them. It wasn't until media personalities started presenting pieces of the puzzle that the government stood up and took notice as did millions of interested citizens.

Short take-off and landing vehicles, especially the bat-wing TR-3A and the triangle TR-3B were relocated to Papoose in the Southern part of what used to be called area S-4. If I indicate otherwise, it's because all of my research and contacts took place to 1994. I take off my hat to him, a true patriot who had the guts to stand up to the government.

SLIDE 62: SR-75 side view

For the last few years, high-tech buffs speculated that at least one new and exotic aerospace vehicle existed. The SR-75, the first operational Aurora Program vehicle, went operational after 2 years of flight testing and modifications in 89. The top secret SR-75 is a hypersonic strategic reconnaissance, or SR spy plane, and is called the Penetrator. It is also a mothership, which I will explain shortly. Hypersonic speeds start at approximately Mach 5. The SR-75 replaced the SR-71 spy plane, which was retired in 1990, by the Air Force, who said, "there is no replacement, all we really need is our spy satellites to do the job. Ha!

ABOVE
TOP
SECRET

USAF SR-75 Penetrator
Hypersonic Strategic Reconnaissance Aircraft

|                      |                               |
|----------------------|-------------------------------|
| Width: 98 Feet       | Length: 162 Feet              |
| Speed: Mach 5        | Altitude: 120 Thousand Feet   |
| 1st Test Flight 1987 | 1st. Operational Flight: 1989 |

Crew of Three: Pilot, EW- Launch
Control Officer & Reconnaissance Officer

SLIDE 63: SR-75 view with specification data at bottom

The new SR-75 is capable of positioning anywhere in the world in less than 3 hours. It carries multi-spectral sensors, such as optical, radar, infrared, and laser.

It collects images, electronic's intelligence, signals intelligence, and illuminates targets. The Top Secret SR-75 far exceeds the classified military speed and altitude records set by the old SR-71, which could fly at a still classified Mach 3.3 and reach a ceiling of 85 thousand feet.

The SR-75 attained altitudes of over 120,000 feet and speeds exceeding Mach-5, or 5 times the speed of sound. That's over 3300 miles per hour. From take-off to landing, the stealthy 75 can make the round trip from central Nevada to Northeast Russia and back in under 3 hours. It's 162 feet long and has a wing span of 98 feet. The belly of the vehicle stands 10 feet off the ground. It carries a crew of 3 - a pilot, a reconnaissance officer, and a launch control officer, who doubles as the electronics warfare officer. Two methane and LOx fueled, high bypass turbo-ramjet (combined cycle) engines are housed under each wing, and the bays run some 40 feet under the wings, terminating at the trailing edge of the wing. The explosive Pulsed Detonation Wave Engines that push the huge SR-75 to speeds above Mach 5, are now reported to be pushing Mach 7, or 4500 miles per hour, with the latest engine modifications.

Although this plane has been sighted on numerous occasions, has been picked up on military radar, and the pulse detonation wave contrail it leaves behind it has been seen, the Air Force vehemently denies its existence.

SLIDE 64: Radar operator

The 2 large engine bay inlets located under each wing of the awesome black SR-75 mother ship, hang down 7 feet from the underside of the wing and are twelve feet wide. You could drive a Volkswagen Beetle into one of the engine exhausts.

The SR-71, and 75, and the daughter ship, the SR-74, were all built by the Lockheed Advanced Development Company, commonly known as the Lockheed "Skunk-Works." The SR-74 Scram is the daughter ship and rides piggyback on the huge SR-75 until take off. Scramp is from Scram-jet and rocket propulsion. Scram-jet means a supersonic combustion ram jet. Jerald witnessed the flight of the big black Air Force SR-75 carrying the little unmanned SR-74 while inside Area 51. It was sitting piggy-back on its upper raised platform on top of the SR-75 Penetrator. I heard talk about the 75 as far back as the late 70s while at Groom, and I have 2 additional friends who have seen it at Groom. Remember, the SR-74 Scramp can't take off from the ground. It can only launch from the SR-75 mother ship at an altitude above 100,000 feet, and then it can attain orbital altitudes of well over 800 thousand feet or 151 miles. The Air Force uses the Scramp to launch small, highly classified, ferret satellites for the National Security Agency. It can launch at least two 1000 pound satellites measuring 6 feet by 5 feet. The Scramp is roughly the equivalent size and weight of a F-16 fighter. It can easily attain speeds of Mach 15, or a little less than 10 thousand miles per hour.

SLIDE 65: NASA Shuttle on gantry

The NASA Space Shuttle is an antique by comparison. The joke is on the taxpayers. If you think these rumors are far-fetched. Look at the YB-49 and XB-70 flown in 1948 and 1964 respectively. Now look at the SR-75 which has been spotted numerous times. You say, the government can't keep a secret. You're wrong if you think they can't.

YB-49 Edwards AFB

Dryden Flight Research Center EC68-2131 Photographed 1968
XB-70 NASA photo

SLIDES: {66/YB-49 wing, {67/XB-70, {68/SR-75 front view

There are new Rumors that we've placed two new vehicles in permanent orbit. One of these is the Space Orbital Nuclear - Service Intercept Vehicle (SON-SIV). It is code named Locust. The SR-74 and the TR-3B can deliver spares replacement units or SRUs, service fuels, fluids, and chemicals to the SON-SIV.

Then, the robotic SON-SIV uses these deliverables to service, calibrate, repair and replace parts on the newer NSA, CIA, & NRO satellites, which are built to be maintained in space.

TR-3B Flying Triangle Operational Model 600 Feet

Web: <http://FoucheMedia.com>
Copyright 1998 Fouche Media Associates

SLIDE 69: TR-3B Operational Version

Finally, I've saved the best 4 last. The Operational model of the TR-3B

A friend said, he would never forget the sight of the alien looking TR-3B based at Papoose. The pitch black, triangular shaped TR-3B was rarely mentioned--and then, only in hushed whispers--at the Groom Lake facility where he worked. The craft had flown over the Groom Lake runway in complete silence and magically stopped above Area S-4. It huv-ered silently in the same position, for some 10 minutes, before gently settling vertically to the tarmac. At times a corona of silver blue light glowed around the circumference of the massive TR-3B. The operational model is 600 feet across.

SLIDE 70: TR-3B prototype Top Secret Flying Triangle

The 200 feet Prototype & the 300 feet Operational TR-3Bs are Code named Astra. The tactical reconnaissance TR-3B first operational flight was in the early 90s.

The triangular shaped nuclear powered aerospace platform was developed under the Top Secret, Aurora Program with SDI and black budget monies. At least 3 of the billion dollar plus TR-3Bs were flying by 1994. The Aurora is the most classified aerospace development program in existence. The TR-3B is the most exotic vehicle created by the Aurora Program. It is funded and operationally tasked by the National Reconnaissance Office, the NSA, and the CIA. The TR-3B flying triangle is not fiction and was built with technology available in the mid 80s.

Not every UFO spotted is one of theirs.

USAF TR-3B - Top Secret Flying Triangle

Copyright 1998 Fouche Media Associates

SLIDE 71: Top Secret USAF TR-3B

The TR-3B vehicle's outer coating is reactive to electrical Radar stimulation and can change reflectiveness, radar absorptiveness, and color. This polymer skin, when used in conjunction with the TR-3Bs Electronic Counter Measures and, ECCM, can make the vehicle look like a small aircraft, or a flying cylinder--or even trick radar receivers into falsely detecting a variety of aircraft, no aircraft, or several aircraft at various locations.

USAF Top Secret Nuclear Powered Flying Triangle - The TR-3B

SLIDE 72: TR-3B Schematic diagram with top bottom and side views

A circular, plasma filled accelerator ring called the Magnetic Field Disrupter, surrounds the rotatable crew compartment and is far ahead of any imaginable technology. Sandia and Livermore laboratories developed the reverse engineered MFD technology. The government will go to any lengths to protect this technology. The plasma, mercury based, is pressurized at 250,000 atmospheres at a temperature of 150 degrees Kelvin and accelerated to 50,000 rpm to create a super-conductive plasma with the resulting gravity disruption.

The MFD generates a magnetic vortex field, which disrupts or neutralizes the effects of gravity on mass within proximity, by 89 percent. Do not misunderstand. This is not anti-gravity. Anti-gravity provides a repulsive force that can be used for propulsion. The MFD creates a disruption of the Earth's gravitational field upon the mass within the circular accelerator. The mass of the circular accelerator and all mass within the accelerator, such as the crew capsule, avionics, MFD systems, fuels, crew environmental systems, and the nuclear reactor, are reduced by 89%. This causes the effect of making the vehicle extremely light and able to outperform and outmaneuver any craft yet constructed--except, of course, those UFOs we did not build. The TR-3B is a high altitude, stealth, reconnaissance platform with an indefinite loiter time. Once you get it up there at speed, it doesn't take much propulsion to maintain altitude.

At Groom Lake their have been whispered Rumors of a new element that acts as a catalyst to the plasma.

With the vehicle mass reduced by 89%, the craft can travel at Mach 9, vertically or horizontally. My sources say the performance is limited only the stresses that the human pilots can endure. Which is a lot, really, considering along with the 89% reduction in mass, the G forces are also reduced by 89%.

The crew of the TR-3B should be able to comfortable take up to 40Gs.

The TR-3Bs propulsion is provided by 3 multimode thrusters mounted at each bottom corner of the triangular platform. The TR-3 is a sub-Mach 9 vehicle until it reaches altitudes above 120,000 feet--then God knows how fast it can go!

The 3 multimode rocket engines mounted under each corner of the craft use hydrogen or methane and oxygen as a propellant.

In a liquid oxygen/hydrogen rocket system, 85% of the propellant mass is oxygen. The nuclear thermal rocket engine uses a hydrogen propellant, augmented with oxygen for additional thrust. The reactor heats the liquid hydrogen and injects liquid oxygen in the supersonic nozzle, so that the hydrogen burns concurrently in the liquid oxygen afterburner.

SLIDE 73: TR-3B Operational Version

The multimode propulsion system can; operate in the atmosphere, with thrust provided by the nuclear reactor, in the upper atmosphere, with hydrogen propulsion, and in orbit, with the combined hydrogen\ oxygen propulsion. What you have to remember is, that the 3 rocket engines only have to propel 11 percent of the mass of the Top Secret TR-3B. The engines are reportedly built by Rockwell.

SLIDE 74: C-130 special Ops plane - front view

The original picture of the TR-3B was taken with a digital camera that was carried onto a black - special operations C-130. An Air Force Special Operations sergeant took the picture while The C-130, was flying mission support for the TR-3B.

The current picture, a computer graphic representation, was created from the sergeant's digital picture using 3D studio. This picture hangs on the wall in the black vault, at the Aurora Program Office. I'm not at liberty to say where I got these other pictures of the TR-3B.

SLIDE 75: TR-3B Original

From the evolution of exotic materials, advanced avionics, and newer propulsion engines the stealth aircraft were born. Leaps in technology have been obtained with reverse engineering of Alien Artifacts as described in the newly released MJ-12 Revised Charter, signed during the Regan administration.

According to Jerald's account, the technology developed at Papoose far exceeded any known within the world scientific community. Technology that we can assuredly assume was developed, from reverse engineering of recovered alien artifacts.

The control of all Alien Artifacts; the research, the reverse engineering, and analysis of the extraterrestrial biological entities (EBEs) has been transferred to the super-secret laboratory called the Defense Advanced Research Center or DARC.

SLIDE 76: TR-3B 600 feet wide Operational Model

Many sightings of triangular UFOs are not alien vehicles but the top secret TR-3B. The NSA, NRO, CIA, and USAF have been playing a shell game with aircraft nomenclature. Creating the TR-3, modified to the TR-3A, the TR-3B, and the Teir 2, 3, and 4, with suffixes like Plus or Minus added on to confuse further the fact that each of these designators is a different aircraft and not the same aerospace vehicle.

A TR-3B is as different from a TR-3A as a banana is from a grape. Some of these vehicles are manned and others are unmanned.

SLIDE 77: Strange picture of aircraft with pilot's head in open.

Before Jerald died, we had a long conversation. He was sure he had documentation that would prove the existence of the MJ-12 committee and our using crashed alien vehicles to reverse engineer their technology.

I also believe, the recently deceased Colonel Corso, who discloses the governments involvement with alien technology, was a honest and honorable man.

SLIDE 78: Earth pictured with TR-3B and worm-hole

Now, with the remaining time I have, I'm going to run through some of the new MJ-12 documents I received via my friend Dale who I've known and trusted for almost 30 years. His father, who worked high up in the NSA for over 20 years acquired these documents. I believe these documents are real.

Many of the names and Dates were blanked out when I received them. The complete documents are attached to Brad Steiger's and my book, Alien Rapture - The Chosen. It is written as a fiction story with characters on a quest, to uncover the truth, much like the one my five friends and I started out on.

I've just barely scratched the surface of the details and facts presented in Alien Rapture.

-----End of Transcript-----